HOW TO CHOOSE A PHYSICIAN

One of the most important decisions that you will make about your health care is selecting the right physician to partner with you in managing your health. Good decisions come from good questions, and it is important to gather your questions and write them down before making a critical physician choice. Here are a few points to keep in mind when selecting a physician for yourself or members of your family.

Check Your Insurance Plan
Find out which groups or hospitals are covered. Ask about referral requirements; that is, whether or not you need to visit a family practitioner, internist, or primary care physician before seeing a physician specialist. Ask if you can choose your obstetrician/gynecologist or your children’s pediatrician as a primary care physician, if that is who you would like to oversee your care.

Selecting a Primary Care Physician
It is not uncommon to need more than one physician for various types of medical issues. However, because it is difficult to know where to find the right help, and because it is important to have one manager for all your health care needs, it is important to select one doctor as your primary care physician.

Also, many health plans today require that you designate a primary care physician to coordinate your care. You will want to know in which hospitals a physician practices and in which health plans a physician participates. Your primary care physician will have some general residency training such as family practice or internal medicine, and may also be trained in a specialty field such as gynecology or cardiology.

Selecting a Physician Specialist
Specific medical issues or needs require physicians with special training and skills. Some health plans require a referral from your primary care physician before going to a specialist. Many people are very familiar with their specific medical needs and have a well-established relationship with a specialist such as a cardiologist or gynecologist. You may be able to choose this specialist as your primary care physician, but you should be sure to make this relationship clear to your physician and your health plan.

We Can Help
Adventist Health Sonora medical staff members cover the spectrum of specialties and bring talents from across the U.S. You will find experienced, highly qualified health care providers in everything from oncology to cardiology. Plus, we offer comprehensive emergency services with physicians present 24 hours a day.

The Medical Center’s Physician Referral Line is a helpful resource. Call (209) 536-3344, Monday–Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. to discuss your needs. With information about your home and work location, and your specific health situation, we can help you find the best doctors for you and your family.

You can also see a listing of our physicians on our website at www.adventisthealthsonora.org under “Doctors”.
